Every man has a property in his own person. This nobody has a right to, but himself.

~ John Locke

It is a dangerous notion that we need a government to protect us from ourselves.

~ Ron Paul

A thing which I regret, and which I will try to remedy some time, is that I have never in my life planted a walnut.

Nobody does plant them nowadays – when you see a walnut it is almost invariably an old tree. If you plant a walnut you are planting it for your grandchildren, and who cares a damn for his grandchildren?

~ George Orwell

Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed, citizens can change the world. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever has.

~ Margaret Mead

Our natural, inalienable rights are now considered to be a dispensation from government, and freedom has never been so fragile, so close to slipping from our grasp as it is at this moment.

~ Ronald Reagan

I freed a thousand slaves.
I could have freed a thousand more if only they knew they were slaves.

~ Harriet Tubman

To create a free society is not to accomplish the impossible task of convincing all people to abandon aggression, but to accomplish the essential task of convincing enough people to abandon the belief that aggression is ever legitimate.

~ Jakub Bożydar Wiśniewski

Nothing is more wonderful than the art of being free, but nothing is harder to learn how to use than freedom.

~ Alexis de Tocqueville

A great civilization is not conquered from without until it has destroyed itself from within.
